

Kenneth Jensen

Dr Kenneth Jensen is an Associate Professor at the Danish Centre for Particle Therapy and Department of Clinical Medicine at Aarhus University Hospital. He is responsible for treatments and protocols regarding head and neck cancer at the particle centre, and a key member of the Danish Head and Neck Cancer Group. His research has focused on the prediction and prevention of side effects.