

Tony Lomax, Ph.D.

Tony Lomax is Head of Physics Research and Technology, Center for Proton Therapy at Paul Scherrer Institute, PSI, CH. Titular professor, Physics Department, ETH, Zurich, CH.

Educational and work background:

- BSc, Physics and physical electronics: Brighton Polytechnic, UK
- MSc/PhD, Medical physics: University of Aberdeen, Scotland
- Medical physicist, Proton Therapy, since 1992: Paul Scherrer Institute, PSI, CH
- In 2007 he was made Titular Professor in the Physics Department at ETH

Speciality and research field of interest:

Medical physics aspects of proton therapy. Treatment planning. Optimisation and robustness analysis for treatment plans. Image guided therapy and motion management.
