

Jeffrey Free

Jeffrey Free is a medical physicist and team leader medical physics at the department of radiation oncology at the University Medical Center Groningen. His clinical and research interests are focused on proton therapy delivery, imaging, quality assurance and head and neck tumours. In addition, he is involved in the clinical implementation of new proton therapy-related techniques.