

Rachelle Buchbinder

Professor Rachelle Buchbinder combines rheumatology practice with clinical research. She heads the Musculoskeletal Health and Healthcare Sustainability Unit in the Monash University School of Public Health and Preventive Medicine. Her book, 'Hippocrisy, how doctors are betraying their oath', written with Professor Ian Harris (a Sydney-based orthopaedic surgeon), and with support from a Rockefeller Foundation writing fellowship at the Bellagio Center in Italy, was published at the end of 2021.

- NHMRC Investigator Fellow
Head, Musculoskeletal Health and Sustainable Healthcare Unit School of Public Health and Preventive Medicine, Monash University
- Coordinating Editor, Cochrane Musculoskeletal, Back and Neck
- Chair, NHMRC Australia and New Zealand Musculoskeletal (ANZMUSC) Clinical Trials Network Centre of Research Excellence
- Monash-Warwick Honorary Professor, Clinical Trials Unit, Warwick Medical School, Warwick University, UK