Anke Hofste

As a sports scientist, I am currently working as a teacher in the Musculoskeletal Master's program at Saxion University of Applied Sciences.
In addition, in recent years I have worked on a PhD research "the use of technology in the diagnosis of low back pain", which I defended last November (2022) at the University of Groningen.

Thesis: The use of technology in measuring low back function and morphology in low back pain patients: https://research.rug.nl/en/publications/the-use-of-technology-in-measuring-low-back-function-and-morpholo

https://research.rug.nl/en/persons/anke-hofste/publications/